

AMOUNT DUE THE CHOCTAWS.

LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR,

TRANSMITTING

A statement showing what amount is due the Choctaw Indians.

MAY 10, 1860.—Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, May 8, 1860.

SIR: In compliance with the resolution of the Senate, adopted March 9, 1859, I have caused an account to be stated showing what amount is due the Choctaws, according to the principles of settlement prescribed in said resolution, and have now the honor to report the same to the House of Representatives.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. THOMPSON,
Secretary.

Hon. WM. PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Office of Indian Affairs, March 22, 1860.

SIR: The following recited preamble and resolutions adopted by the Senate of the United States on the 9th of March, 1859:

“Whereas the eleventh article of the treaty of June 22, 1855, with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians provides that the following questions be submitted for decision to the Senate of the United States, ‘first, whether the Choctaws are entitled to or shall be allowed the proceeds of the sale of the lands ceded by them to the United States by the treaty of September 27, 1830, deducting therefrom the costs of their survey and sale and all just and proper expenditures and payments under the provisions thereof; and, if so, what price per acre shall be allowed to the Choctaws for the lands remaining unsold, in order that a final settlement with them may be promptly effected,’ or, ‘second, whether the Choctaws shall be allowed a gross sum in further and full satisfaction of all their claims, national and individual, against the United States; and, if so, how much.’

“Resolved, That the Choctaws be allowed the proceeds of the sale of such lands as have been sold by the United States on the first day of January last, (1859,) deducting therefrom the costs of their survey and sale and all proper expenditures and payments under said treaty, excluding the reservations allowed and secured, and estimating the scrip issued in lieu of reservations at the rate of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre; and, further, that they be also allowed twelve and a half cents per acre for the residue of said lands.

“Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior cause an account to be stated with the Choctaws, showing what amount is due them according to the above prescribed principles of settlement, and report the same to Congress.”

Having been referred by you to this office on the nineteenth day of the same month, (March, 1859,) measures were at once adopted to collect the information necessary to state the required account with all possible exactitude.

The General Land Office was called upon for the quantity of lands embraced by the quality of lands embraced by the Choctaw cession of 1830, the cost of their survey and sale, the quantity thereof sold up to the 1st day of January, 1859, and the amount of money received therefor, together with the quantity embraced in the “reservations allowed and secured.”

The treaty of 1855 uses the words “lands remaining unsold,” while the resolution says “residue.” If, by the expression just quoted, is meant “lands undisposed of,” the amount would be reduced, inasmuch as 2,292,776 acres have been disposed of by Congress under the swamp land act and grants for railroad and school purposes. The payments and expenditures under the different provisions of the treaty of 1830, it was assumed, and could be ascertained with most certainty from the original accounts and vouchers thereof, which being on file in the office of the Second Auditor of the Treasury, that officer was requested to furnish that portion of the information. That in reference to “the scrip issued in lieu of reservations,” the amounts to “orphans for reservations,” a portion of the payments for removal and subsistence, have been collected from the records of this office.

From the information thus carefully collected the required account has been stated, and it is herewith transmitted.

Though made up on a somewhat different basis it will be seen that the result of this account does not differ materially from that of the approximate statement contained in the elaborate report made to you from this office on the 15th of May, 1858, in answer to a series of queries from the Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate, said statement showing a balance of $2,993,720 18, while that of the present account is $2,981,247 30.

It is to be observed that under the second article of the treaty of 1830 a patent was issued to the Choctaws for the country west of Arkansas, estimated to contain 15,000,000 acres; subsequently, the Chickasaws, with the consent of the United States, purchased a portion of this tract at $530,000, which the United States paid out of the trust fund belonging to the Chickasaws, with the exception of $30,000 paid in the manner directed by the third article of the articles of convention and agreement between the Choctaws and Chickasaws, concluded the 17th of January, 1837. Under the treaty of 1855 the Choctaws leased a portion of their country, for which the United States paid the sum of $600,000. If these sums are to be regarded as payments under the treaty of 1830, the amount due the Choctaws will be $1,851,247 30.

I submit with the account, for the information of yourself and Congress, copies of the reports of the Commissioner of the General Land Office and Second Auditor, marked A and I, and of the supplementary and additional statements prepared in this office, marked B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, in triplicate, which exhibit the data from which the account has been made up and stated; also, in triplicate, an abstract from statement made by the Second Auditor, under resolution of the Senate of 10th March, 1853, of payments for Choctaw account under same treaty, marked D.

The preamble and resolutions of the Senate referred to above are herewith returned.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. B. GREENWOOD,
Commissioner.

Hon. J. THOMPSON,
Secretary of the Interior.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Second Auditor's Office, February 1, 1860.

SIR: In compliance with the terms of your letter of November last, and the letter of Acting Commissioner Mix of the 26th of March last, I have the honor to transmit herewith "a statement of expenditures and payments under the treaty of 1830, with the Choctaws."

You will perceive that the present statement, so far as relates to the objects stipulated for under sundry articles of the treaty, is based on the synopsis presented in your letter of the 14th of November last, as a guide for conducting the process of examination in this office.

I trust that the information now furnished—taken in connexion with that heretofore supplied—as seen in Senate Executive Document No. 64, second session of 33d Congress, and that which may be ascertained from the record of the Indian Bureau, will complete the chain required in this branch of inquiry.

I make no reference in this letter to any part of the data supplied by this statement, as to specific or aggregate amounts—the statement and recapitulation being deemed sufficiently explicit.

I will only remark that, under the head of "Outfit for captains," the amount does not include the cost of 99 swords, furnished the Choctaws, as the price was not designated in the vouchers, but the price fixed by the regulations of the War Department at that time appears to have been $4 25 each.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

T. J. D. FULLER,
Second Auditor.

Hon. A. B. GREENWOOD,
Commissioner, &c., &c.

OFFICE INDIAN AFFAIRS, March 22, 1860.

NOTE.—It is to be observed that under the 2d article of the treaty of 1830 a patent was issued to the Choctaws for the country west of Arkansas, estimated to contain 15,000,000 acres. Subsequently the Chickasaws, with the consent of the United States, purchased a portion of this tract at $530,000, which sum the United States paid out of the trust fund belonging to the Chickasaws. Under the treaty of 1855 the Choctaws relinquished all their right to that portion of said tract west of the 100th meridian and leased that portion between the 98th and 100th degree of west longitude, for which the United States paid the sum of $600,000. If these sums are to be regarded as "payments under the treaty" of 1830 the amount due the Choctaws will be $1,851,247 30.

Payments made for and on account of removal and subsistence of Choctaw Indians in addition to those given by the Second Auditor, being subsequent to the time embraced in his statement as to this item.

CHOCTAW AWARD.

APRIL 9, 1874.—Recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

MR. I. C. PARKER, from the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following REPORT:

[To accompany bill H. R. 2189.]

The Committee on Appropriations, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 2189) "To provide for the payment of the award made by the Senate of the United States in favor of the Choctaw Nation of Indians, on the 9th day of March, 1859," respectfully submit the following report:

The object and purpose of this bill is to provide for the satisfaction of an award made by the Senate of the United States in favor of the Choctaw Nation of Indians, on the 9th day of March, 1859. This award was made in pursuance of treaty stipulations, and was to carry into effect obligations assumed by the United States to the Choctaw Nation, under the treaty with the said nation concluded June 22, 1855. So much of the said treaty as relates to the manner in which the indebtedness of the United States to the said nation should be ascertained and determined is as follows:

ARTICLE XI. The Government of the United States not being prepared to assent to the claim set up under the treaty of September 27, 1830, and so earnestly contended for by the Choctaws as a rule of settlement, but justly appreciating the sacrifices, faithful services, and general good conduct of the Choctaw people, and being desirous that their rights and claims against the United States shall receive a just, fair, and liberal consideration, it is therefore stipulated that the following questions be submitted for adjudication to the Senate of the United States:

"First. Whether the Choctaws are entitled to, or shall be allowed, the proceeds of the sale of the land ceded by them to the United States by the treaty of September 27, 1830, deducting therefrom the costs of their survey and sale, and all just and proper expenditures and payments under the provisions of said treaty; and, if so, what price per acre shall be allowed to the Choctaws for the lands remaining unsold, in order that a final settlement with them may be promptly effected; or

"Second. Whether the Choctaws shall be allowed a gross sum in further and full satisfaction of all their claims, national and individual, against the United States; and, if so, how much."

ARTICLE XII. "In case the Senate shall award to the Choctaws the net proceeds of the lands ceded as aforesaid, the same shall be received by them in full satisfaction of all their claims against the United States, whether national or individual, arising under any former treaty: and the Choctaws shall thereupon become liable and bound to pay all such individual claims as may be adjudged by the proper authorities of the tribe to be equitable and just; the settlement and payment to be made with the advice and under the direction of the United States agent for the tribe; and so much of the fund awarded by the Senate to the Choctaws as the proper authorities thereof shall ascertain and determine to be necessary for the payment of the just liabilities of the tribe shall, on their requisition, be paid over to them by the United States. But should the Senate allow a gross sum in further and full satisfaction of all their claims, whether national or individual, against the United States, the same shall be accepted by the Choctaws, and they shall thereupon become liable for and bound to pay all the individual claims as aforesaid; it being expressly understood that the adjudication and decision of the Senate shall be final."

In pursuance of this agreement between the two contracting parties, the Senate of the United States, acting in the character of arbitrator, or as commissioners under a treaty, proceeded to an adjudication of the questions submitted to it under the eleventh article of said treaty; and on the 9th day of March, 1859, the matter having been previously considered and investigated by the Senate, the following award was made and declared in favor of the Choctaw Nation:

Whereas the eleventh article of the treaty of June 22, 1855, with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians, provides that the following questions be submitted for decision to the Senate of the United States:

"First. Whether the Choctaws are entitled to or shall be allowed the proceeds of the sale of the lands ceded by them to the United States by the treaty of September 27, 1830, deducting therefrom the costs of their survey and sale, and all just and proper expenditures and payments under the provisions of said treaty: and, if so, what price per acre shall be allowed to the Choctaws for the lands remaining unsold, in order that a final settlement with them may be promptly effected; or,

"Secondly. Whether the Choctaws shall be allowed a gross sum in further and full satisfaction of all their claims, national and individual, against the United States; and, if so, how much?"

Resolved, That the Choctaws be allowed the proceeds of the sale of such lands as have been sold by the United States on the 1st day of January last, deducting therefrom the costs of their survey and sale, and all proper expenditures and payments under said treaty, excluding the reservations allowed and secured, and estimating the scrip issued in lieu of reservations at the rate of $1.25 per acre; and, further, that they be also allowed twelve and a half cents per acre for the residue of said lands.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior cause an account to be stated with the Choctaws, showing what amount is due them according to the above-prescribed principles of settlement, and report the same to Congress.

In pursuance of this award the Secretary of the Interior, as directed by the second of the above resolutions, proceeded to state an account between the United States and the Choctaw Nation, upon the principles decided by the Senate as the basis of such account, as declared in the first resolution; and the result of such accounting, as shown in the report of the Secretary of the Interior, was an indebtedness on the part of the United States to the Choctaw Nation, amounting to two million nine hundred and eighty-one thousand two hundred and forty-seven dollars and thirty cents.

The Committee on Indian Affairs of the House of Representatives, in its report made at the last session of Congress, speaking of this award, used the following language:

By every principle of law, equity, and business transaction the United States is bound by the accounting of the Secretary of the Interior, showing $2,981,247.30 due to the Choctaws at the date of the Secretary's report.

First. The Senate was the umpire, and, in the language of the treaty of 1855, which made it such, its decision was to be final.

Secondly. The Senate, in the exercise of its power under the treaty of 1855, chose to allow the net proceeds of the land as the better of the two modes of settlement proposed by that treaty, and not to allow a sum in gross.

Thirdly. The Senate directed the Secretary of the Interior to make the accounting, which he did, May 28, 1860, as shown above.

Fourthly. The Senate did not, as umpire, or otherwise, reject this accounting; but, on March 2, 1861, Congress made an appropriation of $500,000 on it, and the Senate has not, since the Secretary's report, rejected any part of it, though near fourteen years have elapsed.

(House Report No. 80, Forty-second Congress, third session.)

The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs having had this subject

under consideration at the last session of Congress, speaking of this award, and of the obligation of the United States to pay it, said :

If the case were re-opened and adjudicated as an original question, by an impartial umpire, a much larger sum would be found due to the said Indians, which they would undoubtedly recover were they in a condition to compel justice.

Your committee, from a most careful examination of the whole subject, concur in these conclusions and refer to them only for the purpose of showing that the honesty, the fairness, or the integrity of the award thus made in favor of the Choctaw Nation cannot successfully be called in question or denied. It was a final settlement and award, conclusive alike upon the Choctaw Nation and the United States. Neither party to the treaty could rightfully disavow it, or refuse to be bound by it.

The United States has recognized the conclusiveness of this award by legislative enactment; for in the Indian appropriation bill, approved March 2, 1861, it was provided that the sum of $500,000 should be paid to the said nation on account of this award. (12 Stats. at Large, p. 238.)

In pursuance of this act the sum of $250,000 in money was paid to the said nation, but the bonds for a like amount, which the Secretary of the Treasury was directed to issue, were not delivered on account of the interruption of intercourse with the said nation caused by the war of the rebellion. These bonds have never been issued or delivered to the said nation, and all that has ever been paid to the said nation on account of the said award, therefore, is the sum of $250,000, paid (under the said act of March 2, 1861) on the 12th day of April, 1861. The balance remaining unpaid on the said award since the 12th day of April, 1861, therefore, is $2,731,247.30.

THE OBLIGATION TO PAY INTEREST ON THE AMOUNT AWARDED THE CHOCTAW NATION.

Your committee have given this question a most careful examination, and are obliged to admit and declare that the United States cannot, in equity and justice, nor without national dishonor, refuse to pay interest upon the moneys so long withheld from the Choctaw Nation. Some of the reasons which force us to this conclusion are as follows :

1. The United States acquired the lands of the Choctaw Nation on account of which the said award was made on the 27th day of September, 1830, and it has held them for the benefit of its citizens ever since.

2. The United States had in its Treasury, many years prior to the 1st day of January, 1859, the proceeds resulting from the sale of the said lands, and have enjoyed the use of such moneys from that time until now.

3. The award in favor of the Choctaw Nation was an award under a treaty, and made by a tribunal whose adjudication was final and conclusive.—(Comegys vs. Vasse, 1 Peters, 193.)

4. The obligations of the United States, under its treaties with Indian nations, have been declared to be equally sacred with those made by treaties with foreign nations.—(Worcester vs. The State of Georgia, 6 Peters, 582.) And such treaties, Mr. Justice Miller declares, are to be construed liberally.—(The Kansas Indians, 5 Wall., 737-760.)

5. The engagements and obligations of a treaty are to be interpreted in accordance with the principles of the public law, and not in accordance with any municipal code or executive regulation. No statement of this proposition can equal the clearness or force with which Mr. Webster declares it in his opinion on the Florida claims, attached to the report in the case of Letitia Humphreys, (Senate report No. 93, first session Thirty-sixth Congress, page 16.) Speaking of the obligation of a treaty, he said:

A treaty is the supreme law of the land. It can neither be limited, nor restrained nor modified, nor altered. It stands on the ground of national contract, and is declared by the Constitution to be the supreme law of the land, and this gives it a character higher than any act of ordinary legislation. It enjoys an immunity from the operation and effect of all such legislation.

A second general proposition, equally certain and well established, is that the terms and the language used in a treaty are always to be interpreted according to the law of nations, and not according to any municipal code. This rule is of universal application. When two nations speak to each other, they use the language of nations. Their intercourse is regulated, and their mutual agreements and obligations are to be interpreted by that code only which we usually denominate the public law of the world. This public law is not one thing at Rome, another at London, and a third at Washington. It is the same in all civilized States; everywhere speaking with the same voice and the same authority.

Again, in the same opinion, Mr. Webster used the following language:

We are construing a treaty, a solemn compact between nations. This compact between nations, this treaty, is to be construed and interpreted throughout its whole length and breadth, in its general provisions, and in all its details, in every phrase, sentence, word, and syllable in it, by the settled rules of the law of nations. No municipal code can touch it, no local municipal law affect it, no practice of an administrative department come near it. Over all its terms, over all its doubts, over all its ambiguities, if it have any, the law of nations "sits arbitress."

6. By the principles of the public law, interest is always allowed as indemnity for the delay of payment of an ascertained and fixed demand. There is no conflict of authority upon this question among the writers on public law.

This rule is laid down by Rutherford in these terms:

In estimating the damages which any one has sustained, when such things as he has a perfect right to are unjustly taken from him, or WITHHOLDEN, or intercepted, we are to consider not only the value of the thing itself, but the value likewise of the fruits or profits that might have arisen from it. He who is the owner of the thing is likewise the owner of the fruits or profits. So that it is as properly a damage to be deprived of them as it is to be deprived of the thing itself. (Rutherford's Institutes, Book I, chap. 17, sec. 5.)

In laying down the rule for the satisfaction of injuries in the case of reprisals, in making which the strictest caution is enjoined not to transcend the clearest rules of justice, Mr. Wheaton, in his work on the law of nations, says:

If a nation has taken possession of that which belongs to another, IF IT REFUSES TO PAY A DEBT, to repair an injury or to give adequate satisfaction for it, the latter may seize something of the former and apply it to his its advantage, till it obtains payment of what is due, together with INTEREST and damages. (Wheaton on International Law, p. 341.)

A great writer, Domat, thus states the law of reason and justice on this point:

It is a natural consequence of the general engagement to do wrong to no one that they who cause any damages by failing in the performance of that engagement are obliged to repair the damage which they have done. Of what nature soever the damage may be, and from what cause soever it may proceed, he who is answerable for it ought to repair it by an amende proportionable either to his fault or to his offense or other cause on his part, and to the loss which has happened thereby.—(Domat, Part I, Book III, Tit. V., 1900, 1903.)

"Interest" is, in reality, in justice, in reason, and in law, too, a part of the debt due. It includes, in Pothier's words, the loss which one has suffered, and the gain which he has failed to make. The Roman law defines it as “quantum mea interfuit: id est, quantum mihi abest, quantumque lucrari potui.” The two elements of it were termed “lucrum cessans et damnum emergens.” The payment of both is necessary to a complete indemnity.

Interest, Domat says, is the reparation or satisfaction which he who owes a sum of money is bound to make to his creditor for the damage which he does him by not paying him the money he owes him.

It is because of the universal recognition of the justice of paying, for the retention of moneys indisputably due and payable immediately, a rate of interest considered to be a fair equivalent for the loss of its use, that judgments for money everywhere bear interest. The creditor is deprived of this profit, and the debtor has it. What greater wrong could the law permit than that the debtor should be at liberty indefinitely to delay payment, and, during the delay, have the use of the creditor's moneys for nothing? They are none the less the creditor's moneys because the debtor wrongfully withholds them. He holds them, in reality and essentially, in trust; and a trustee is always bound to pay interest upon moneys so held.

In closing these citations from the public law, the language of Chancellor Kent seems eminently appropriate. He says: “In cases where the principal jurists agree, the presumption will be very great in favor of the solidity of their maxims, and no civilized nation that does not arrogantly set all ordinary law and justice at defiance will venture to disregard the uniform sense of established writers on international law.

7th. The practice of the United States in discharging obligations resulting from treaty stipulations has always been in accord with these well-established principles. It has exacted the payment of interest from other nations in all cases where the obligation to make payment resulted from treaty stipulations, and it has acknowledged that obligation in all cases where a like liability was imposed upon it.

The most important and leading cases which have occurred are those which arose between this country and Great Britain. The first under the treaty of 1794, and the other under the first article of the treaty of Ghent. In the latter case the United States, under the first article of the treaty, claimed compensation for slaves and other property taken away from the country by the British forces at the close of the war in 1815. A difference arose between the two governments which was submitted to the arbitrament of the Emperor of Russia, who decided that “The United States of America are entitled to a just indemnification from Great Britain for all private property carried away by the British forces.” A joint commission was appointed for the purpose of hearing the claims of individuals under this decision. At an early stage of the proceedings the question arose as to whether interest was a part of that “just indemnification” which the decision of the Emperor of Russia contemplated. The British commissioner denied the obligation to pay interest. The American commissioner, Langdon Cheves, insisted upon its allowance, and in the course of his argument upon this question, said:

Indemnification means a re-imbursement of a loss sustained. If the property taken away on the 17th of February, 1815, were returned now uninjured it would not reimburse the loss sustained by the taking away and consequent detention; it would not be an indemnification. The claimant would still be unindemnified for the loss of the use of his property for ten years, which considered as money is nearly equivalent to the original value of the principal thing.

Again he says:

If interest be an incident usually attendant on the delay of payment of debts, damages are equally an incident attendant on the withholding an article of property.

In consequence of this disagreement the commission was broken up, but the claims were subsequently compromised by the payment of $1,204,960, instead of $1,250,000 as claimed by Mr. Cheves; and of the sum paid by Great Britain, $418,000 was expressly for interest.

An earlier case, in which this principle of interest was involved, arose under the treaty of 1794, between the United States and Great Britain, in which there was a stipulation on the part of the British government in relation to certain losses and damages sustained by American merchants and other citizens, by reason of the illegal or irregular capture of their vessels, or other property, by British cruisers; and the seventh article provided in substance that "full and complete compensation for the same will be made by the British government to the said claimants."

A joint commission was instituted under this treaty which sat in London, and by which these claims were adjudicated. Mr. Pinckney and Mr. Gore were commissioners on the part of the United States, and Dr. Nicholl and Dr. Swabey on the part of Great Britain; and it is believed that in all instances this commission allowed interest as a part of the damage. In the case of "The Betsey," one of the cases which came before the board, Dr. Nicholl stated the rule of compensation as follows:

To re-imburse the claimants, the original cost of their property, and all the expenses they have actually incurred, together with interest on the whole amount, would, I think, be a just and adequate compensation. This, I believe, is the measure of compensation usually made by all belligerent nations, and accepted by all neutral nations, for losses, costs, and damages, occasioned by illegal captures. (Vide Wheaton's life of Pinckney, page 198; also 265 note, and page 371.)

By a reference to the American State Papers, Foreign Relations, vol. 2, pages 119, 120, it will be seen by a report of the Secretary of State of the 16th February, 1798, laid before the House of Representatives, that interest was awarded and paid on such of these claims as had been submitted to the award of Sir William Scott and Sir John Nicholl, as it was in all cases by the board of commissioners. In consequence of some difference of opinion between the members of this commission, their proceedings were suspended until 1802, when a convention was concluded between the two governments, and the commission re-assembled, and then a question arose as to the allowance of interest on the claims during the suspension. This the American commissioners claimed, and though it was at first resisted by the British commissioners, yet it was finally yielded, and interest was allowed and paid. (See Mr. King's three letters to the Secretary of State, of 25th March, 1803, 23d April, 1803, and 30th April, 1803, American State Papers, Foreign Relations, vol. 2, pages 387 and 388.)

Another case in which this principle was involved arose under the treaty of the 27th October, 1795, with Spain; by the twenty-first article of which, "in order to terminate all differences on account of the losses sustained by citizens of the United States in consequence of their vessels and cargoes having been taken by the subjects of his Catholic Majesty during the late war between Spain and France, it is agreed that all such cases shall be referred to the final decision of commissioners, to be appointed in the following manner," &c. The commissioners were to be chosen, one by the United States, one by Spain, and the two were to choose a third, and the award of the commissioners, or any two of them, was to be final, and the Spanish government to pay the amount in specie.

This commission awarded interest as part of the damages. (See American State Papers, vol. 2, Foreign Relations, page 283.) So in the case of claims of American citizens against Brazil, settled by Mr. Tudor, United States minister, interest was claimed and allowed. (See Ex. Doc., first session Twenty-fifth Congress, House of Reps., Doc. 32, page 249.)

Again, in the convention with Mexico of the 11th April, 1839, by which provision was made by Mexico for the payment of claims of American citizens for injuries to persons and property by the Mexican authorities, a mixed commission was provided for and this commission allowed interest in all cases. (House Ex. Doc. 291, 27th Congress, 2d session.)

So also under the Treaty with Mexico of February 2, 1848, the board of commissioners for the adjustment of claims under that treaty allowed interest in all cases from the origin of the claim until the day when the commission expired.

So also under the convention with Colombia, concluded February 10, 1864, the commission for the adjudication of claims under that treaty allowed interest in all cases as a part of the indemnity.

So under the recent convention with Venezuela, the United States exacted interest upon the awards of the commission, from the date of the adjournment of the commission until the payment of the awards.

The Mixed American and Mexican Commission, now in session here, allows interest in all cases from the origin of the claim, and the awards are payable with interest.

Other cases might be shown in which the United States or their authorized diplomatic agents have claimed interest in such cases, or where it has been paid in whole or in part. (See Mr. Russell's letter to the Count de Engstien of October 5, 1818, American State Papers, vol. 4, p. 639, and proceedings under the Convention with the Two Sicilies of October, 1832, Elliot's Dip. Code, p. 625.)

It can hardly be necessary to pursue these precedents further. They sufficiently and clearly show the practice of this Government with foreign nations, or with claimant under treaties.

8th. The practice of the United States in its dealings with the various Indian tribes or nations has been in harmony with these principles.

In all cases where money belonging to Indian nations has been retained by the United States, it has been so invested as to produce interest, for the benefit of the nation to which it belongs; and such interest is annually paid to the nation who may be entitled to receive it.

9th. The United States in adjusting the claim of the Cherokee Nation for a balance due as purchase-money upon lands ceded by that nation to the United States in 1835, allowed interest upon the balance due them, being $189,422.76, until the same was paid.

The question was submitted to the Senate of the United States, as to whether interest should be allowed them. The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, in their report upon this subject used the following language:

By the treaty of August, 1846, it was referred to the Senate to decide, and that decision to be final, whether the Cherokees shall receive interest on the sums found due them from a misapplication of their funds to purposes with which they were not chargeable, and on account of which improper charges the money has been withheld from them. It has been the uniform practice of this Government to pay and demand interest in all transactions with foreign governments, which the Indian tribes have always been said to be, both by the Supreme Court and all other branches of our Government, in all matters of treaty or contract. The Indians, relying upon the prompt payment of their dues, have, in many cases, contracted debts upon the faith of it, upon which they have paid, or are liable to pay, interest. If, therefore, they do not now receive interest on their money so long withheld from them, they will in effect, have received nothing. (Senate report No. 176, first session, Thirty-first Congress, p. 78.)

10th. That upon an examination of the precedents where Congress has passed acts for the relief of private citizens, it will be found that, in almost every case, Congress has directed the payment of interest, where the United States had withheld a sum of money which had been decided by competent authority to be due, or where the amount due was ascertained, fixed, and certain.

The following precedents illustrate and enforce the correctness of this assertion, and sustain this proposition :

1. An act approved January 14, 1793, provided that lawful interest from the 16th of May, 1776, shall be allowed on the sum of $200 ordered to be paid to Return J. Meigs, and the legal representatives of Christopher Greene, deceased, by a resolve of the United States, in Congress assembled, on the 28th of September, 1785. (6 Stats. at Large, p. 11.)

2. An act approved May 31, 1794, provided for a settlement with Arthur St. Clair, for expenses while going from New York to Fort Pitt and till his return, and for services in the business of Indian treaties, and "allowed interest on the balance found to be due him." (6 Stats. at Large, p. 16.)

3. An act approved February 27, 1795, authorized the officers of the Treasury to issue and deliver to Angus McLean, or his duly authorized attorney, certificates for the amount of $254.43, bearing interest at six per cent, from the 1st of July, 1783, being for his services in the Corps of Sappers and Miners during the late war. (6 Stats. at Large, p. 20.)

4. 52. An act approved July 8, 1870, directed the Secretary of the Treasury to make proper payments to carry into effect the decree of the district court of the United States for the district of Louisiana, bearing date the fourth of June, 1867, in the case of the British brig "Volant," and her cargo; and also another decree of the same court, bearing date the eleventh of June, in the same year, in the case of the British bark "Science," and cargo, vessels illegally seized by a cruiser of the United States; such payments to be made as follows, viz: To the several persons named in such decrees, or their legal representatives, the several sums awarded to them respectively, with interest to each person from the date of the decree under which he receives payment. (16 Stats. at Large, 650.)

53. An act approved July 8, 1870, directed the Secretary to make the proper payments to carry into effect the decree of the district court of the United States for the district of Louisiana, bearing date July 13, 1867, in the case of the British brig "Dashing Wave," and her cargo, illegally seized by a cruiser of the United States, which decree was made in pursuance of the decision of the Supreme Court, such payments to be made with interest from the date of the decree. (16 Stats. at Large, 651.)

An examination of these cases will show that, subsequent to the seizure of these several vessels, they were each sold by the United States marshal for the district of Louisiana as prize, and the proceeds of such sales deposited by him in the First National Bank of New Orleans. The bank, while the proceeds of these sales were on deposit there, became insolvent. The seizures were held illegal, and the vessels not subject to capture as prize. But the proceeds of the sales of these vessels and their cargoes could not be restored to the owners in accordance of the decrees of the district court, because the funds had been lost by the insolvency of the bank. In these cases, therefore, Congress provided indemnity for losses resulting from the acts of its agents, and made the indemnity complete by providing for the payment of interest.

Your committee have directed attention to these numerous precedents for the purpose of exposing the utter want of foundation of the often-repeated assumption that "the Government never pays interest." It will readily be admitted that there is no statute-law to sustain this position. The idea has grown up from the custom and usage of the accounting-officers and departments refusing to allow interest generally in their accounts with disbursing-officers, and in the settlement of unliquidated domestic claims arising out of dealings with the Government. It will hardly be pretended, however, that this custom or usage is so "reasonable," well known, and "certain," as to give it the force and effect of law, and to override and trample under foot the law of nations and also the well settled practice of the Government itself in its intercourse with other nations.

11th. Interest was allowed and paid to the State of Massachusetts, because the United States delayed the payment of the principal for twenty-two years after the amount due had been ascertained and determined. The amount appropriated to pay this interest was $678,362.41, more than the original principal. (16 Stats. at Large, 198.)

Mr. Sumner, in his report upon the memorial introduced for that purpose, discussing this question of interest, said :

It is urged that the payment of this interest would establish a bad precedent. If the claim is just, the precedent of paying it is one of which our Government should wish to establish. Honesty and justice are not precedents of which either Government or individuals should be afraid.

Senate Report 4, 41st Cong., 1st sess., p. 10.

12th. Interest has always been allowed to the several States for advances made to the United States for military purposes.

The claims of the several States for advances during the revolutionary war were adjusted and settled under the provision of the acts of Congress of August 5, 1790, and of May 31, 1794. By these acts interest was allowed to the States, whether they had advanced money on hand in their treasuries or obtained by loans.

In respect to the advances of States during the war of 1812-'15, a more restricted rule was adopted, viz. : That States should be allowed interest only so far as they had themselves paid it by borrowing, or had lost it by the sale of interest-bearing funds.

Interest, according to this rule, has been paid to all the States which made advances during the war of 1812-'15, with the exception of Massachusetts. Here are the cases :

Virginia, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 4, p. 161.

Delaware, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 4, p. 175.

New York, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 4, p. 192.

Pennsylvania, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 4, p. 241.

South Carolina, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 4, p. 499.

In Indian and other wars the same rule has been observed, as in the following cases :

Alabama, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 9, p. 344.

Georgia, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 9, p. 626.

Washington Territory, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol. 11, p. 429.

New Hampshire, U. S. Stats. at Large, vol 10, p. 1.

13th. The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, in the report to which reference has heretofore been made, speaking of this award and of the obligation of the United States to pay interest upon the balance remaining due and unpaid thereon, used the following language :

Your committee are of opinion that this sum should be paid them with accrued interest from the date of said award, deducting therefrom $250,000, paid to them in money, as directed by the act of March 2, 1861; and, therefore, find no sufficient reason for further delay in carrying into effect that provision of the afore-named act, and the act of March 3, 1871, by the delivery of the bonds therein described, with accrued interest from the date of the act of March 8, 1861.

Your committee have discussed this question with an anxious desire to come to such a conclusion in regard to it as would do no injustice to that Indian nation whose rights are involved here, nor establish such a precedent as would be inconsistent with the practice or duty of the United States in such cases. Therefore, your committee have considered it not only by the light of those principles of the public law—always in harmony with the highest demands of the most perfect justice—but also in the light of those numerous precedents which this Government in its action in like cases has furnished for our guidance. Your committee cannot believe that the payment of interest on the moneys awarded by the Senate to the Choctaw Nation would either violate any principle of law or establish any precedent which the United States would not wish to follow in any similar case, and your committee cannot believe that the United States are prepared to repudiate these principles, or to admit that because their obligation is held by a weak and powerless Indian nation, it is any the less sacred or binding, than if held by a nation able to enforce its payment and secure complete indemnity under it. Could the United States escape the payment of interest to Great Britain, if it should refuse or neglect, after the same became due, to pay the amount awarded in favor of British subjects by the recent joint commission which sat here? Could we delay payment of the amount awarded by that commission for fifteen years, and then escape by merely paying the principal? The Choctaw Nation asks the same measure of justice which we must accord to Great Britain; and your committee cannot deny that demand unless they shall ignore and set aside those principles of the public law, which it is of the utmost importance to the United States to always maintain inviolate.

Your committee are not unmindful that the amount due the Choctaw nation under the award of the Senate is large. They are not unmindful, either, that the discredit of refusing payment is increased in proportion to the amount withheld and the time during which such refusal has been continued. That the amount to be paid is large is no fault of the Choctaw Nation. The whole amount was due when, on the 2d day of March, 1861, Congress authorized the payment, on account of the award, of the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and if, at that time, the bonds of the United States had been issued in satisfaction of the award, the Choctaw Nation would have received interest on them from that time, and thus derived such advantage as would have resulted, from time to time, from the payment of semi-annual interest and the sale of the gold which they would have received in the payment of interest. The bill under consideration provides that the amount due upon the award of the Senate shall be satisfied and paid, (both principal and interest,) in the bonds of the United States of like character and description as those authorized to be issued under the act of Congress entitled "An act authorizing a loan," approved February 8, 1861. They were bonds of this issue that the Secretary of the Treasury was required to deliver in part payment of the amount authorized to be paid on account of the said award under the provisions of the act of March 2, 1861. If this award had then been wholly satisfied and discharged, it would have been in bonds of this description. The act of February 8, 1861, authorized the issue of bonds to the amount of $25,000,000 of which there have been issued $18,485,000. There is therefore to the credit of this act, bonds to the amount of $6,515,000, which may be issued for any purpose which Congress shall direct. Your committee bearing in mind, that the moneys so long withheld from the Choctaw nation, are in the nature of trust-funds, and that the United States had the use of these moneys for so many years before the making of the award in favor of the Choctaw Nation by the United States Senate; and that the Choctaw Nation is in a certain sense a ward of the United States, cannot recommend any other payment to them, except such as will do them perfect justice and provide for them complete indemnity. This result will be most nearly accomplished by the issue and delivery to the Choctaw Nation of those bonds which would have been issued to them had the whole award been paid at the time provision was made for its part payment, as provided in the act of March 26, 1861; and interest on the said award should be added from the time the same was made by the United States Senate; and that for these, both principal and interest, bonds of the United States, of the character and description of other bonds issued under the act of February 8, 1861, should be issued for the use and benefit of the Choctaw Nation.

Your committee believe that this course, and nothing less, will satisfy the demands of justice, and relieve the United States from the imputation of bad faith and an inexcusable disregard of treaty obligations.

AUTHORITY TO RECEIVE THE BONDS.

The bill under consideration provides that the bonds for which it makes provision shall be delivered to Peter P. Pitchlynn, and Peter Folsom, or to either of them who may demand the same on behalf of the Choctaw nation. The reason for directing these bonds to be delivered to these persons, as the delegates of the Choctaw nation, results from the fact that for more than twenty years one of these delegates, Governor Pitchlynn, many years principal chief of the Choctaw nation, has been here pressing the just claims of his nation upon the attention of Congress. He has been the accredited agent and trusted servant of his nation before the government of the United States, and he has been so recognized by the different Departments of the Government.

The evidence of the authority of the said delegates, submitted to your Committee, shows that—

The Choctaw national council, by several legislative enactments, passed respectively November 9, 1853, November 10, 1854, November 17, 1855, November 4, 1857, November 25, 1867, and March 18, 1872, constituted and appointed Peter P. Pitchlynn, Israel Folsom, Samuel Garland, and Dixon W. Lewis their special agents for the purpose of securing the payment from the United States of certain claims or demands which the Choctaw Nation and individual members thereof, had and asserted against the United States, under the treaty between the United States and the Choctaw Nation, concluded September 27, 1830. These claims are known and styled "The Choctaw Net Proceeds Claims." The first of these acts declared the powers and authority of these delegates in the following language :

That the said delegates are hereby clothed with full power to settle and dispose of, by treaty or otherwise, all and every claim and interest of the Choctaw people against the Government of the United States, and to adjust and bring to a final close all unsettled business of the Choctaw people with the said Government of the United States.

Laws of Choctaw Nation, pp. 123, 124, 125.

By the act of 1854, these agents were further authorized and instructed as follows :

To remain at Washington and continue to press to final settlement all claims and unsettled business of the Choctaws with said Government, with full powers to take all measures and enter into all contracts which in their judgment may become necessary and proper, in the name of the Choctaw people, and to bring to a final and satisfactory adjustment and settlement, all claims or demands whatever, which the Choctaw tribe, or any member thereof, have against the Government of the United States, by treaty or otherwise.

Laws of Choctaw nation, pp. 133, 134.

The act of November 4th, 1857, authorized either of the delegates who might be present in Washington to act for and on behalf of the Nation ; and the act of November 25, 1867, declared that the terms of service of the said delegates should continue until the whole business of their agency was adjusted and settled.

The delegates or agents named and appointed in and by the first of these acts, have all died except Peter P. Pitchlynn, and in the place of Dixon W. Lewis, Peter Folsom has been appointed a delegate and agent of the Nation, so that the delegates or agents of the said Nation, under the said legislative enactments are Peter P. Pitchlynn and Peter Folsom. By the fifth section of the act approved March 18, 1872, it was declared and provided as follows :

And all powers and authorities, heretofore conferred upon said delegates by several acts and resolutions of the general council, are hereby re-affirmed and declared in full force.

The money paid to the said Nation under the act of March 2, 1861, was paid directly to the said delegates and receipted for by them, and afterward duly accounted for to that Nation.

Your committee have been furnished with no evidence of any purpose on the part of the Choctaw Nation to withdraw from the said delegates any of the authority conferred upon them, and they are still as they have been for so many years the authorized and trusted delegates of the said Nation. Your committee are of the opinion therefore, that all the rights and interests of the Choctaw Nation, may safely be intrusted to the said delegates, and that the bonds for which, the bill under consideration makes provision, may with propriety and safety to the said Nation be delivered to the said delegates as provided in the bill which is the subject of this report.
